Our first e-newsletter

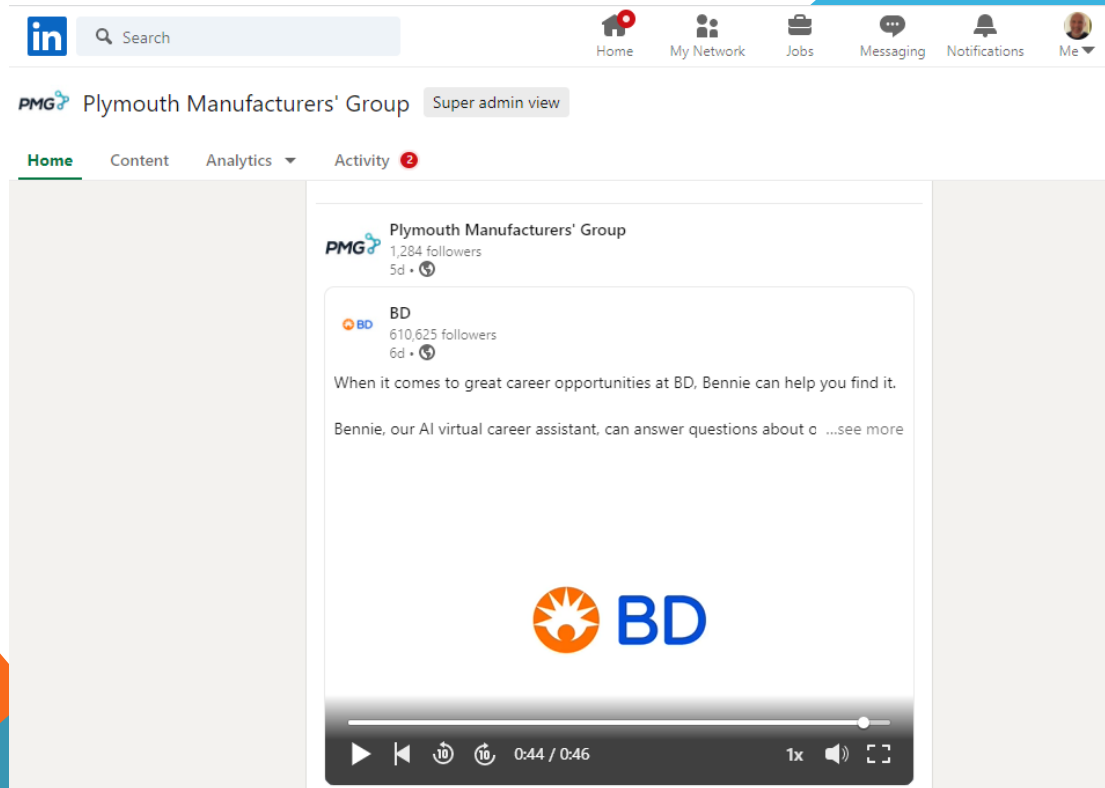

Welcome to the new PMG email newsletter

As you may have read previously, for the past month or so, the PMG has been showing off its swanky new website. We're still using the same old address www.mypmg.co.uk but the site is built on a much more user friendly platform, which means we are constantly updating it with new stories. The purpose of this mailout is to give you a flavour of what's been posted over the past few weeks so that if anything sounds remotely interesting you'll click through to the site. We're still refining the structure for news, but I'd like to draw your attention to these four stories for starters.
